DEDICATION

I dedicate this work to my beloved parents, the late Peter Wangira and Mrs Lucy Achola Wangira for their boundless love and belief in me, and for all the sacrifices they made towards my education and general wellbeing; to my children Charity Wangira Faith and others for lighting up my world and giving me reason to smile.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe eternal gratitude to God the almighty for the gift of life and the grace He bestowed upon me in enabling me to pursue this course to its successful end.

Special gratitude goes to my supervisor Madam Deborah for tirelessly yet patiently guiding me throughout the writing of this research report.

I wish to thank my lecturers; Dr Boaz Hire, Dr Atibun Zami, Prof. Ochuwo Oburu , Madam Deborah , Ms Nabwire Justine MR Aisu Godfrey, Mr Mugerwa Joseph, MR Solomon Onyapid to mention but a few for having laid the foundation upon which this dissertation was eventually built.

To my colleagues especially those in sports science Department, thank you for the support you rendered in covering for me during times when I was too busy with studies to be available at school.

To my classmates; especially Mr .Wafula Stephen, together with the entire student body; thank you for being such wonderful people who made my time in the course enjoyable.

To Agnes Nabitula, I am very grateful for all the encouragement you gave me during the writing of this dissertation.

Without forgetting administration of and management of Buchumba Primary School who managed to part with me soliciting some little time in coming up with this document amidst the congested schedule of the school.

Finally, I would like to thank my dear wife Mrs Justine Makoha Wangira for always understanding, encouraging and supporting me and also being patient throughout the period I was engaged with studies.

May God bless all of you abundantly!

ABSTRACT.

The study focused on an investigation on the relationship between the fishing activities and school drop out in the fishing communities in Mutumba sub county in Namayingo district.

At least 7 schools were sampled to the findings that revealed that school drop out in the fishing communities was a reality.

It really confirmed the research hypothesis that there is a significant relationship between school dropout and fishing activities factors.

This study made the recommendations to all stake holders to address the challenges faced by school drop outs as observed from the study.

CHAPTER ONE

1.0 Background

This chapter encompasses ; the of the study, empirical review of the literature in Africa, East Africa, Uganda and the local communities in the fishing areas.

1.2 Background of the study.

Fishing activities and school drop out were positively and significantly correlated to academic performance

According to ir.kiu.ac.ug> bistream, the school drop can be closely linked to the problem of child labor in the form working in the fishing industry which is one of the constraints in Africa and the World over .

In Ghana, this is evidenced by low participation in primary schools amongst aged the fishing communities in Ghana.

About 45% of the school goers aged between (1-17) get get engaged in the fishing activities which affect the objectives of education in the country.

Regarding the erepositry.unob .ac.ke>ojij...,say that the influence of fishing activities affect the academic performance .,reluctantness of parents in terms discipline.

Some of the reasons highlighted for the school drop out and poor performance offer the paid work. (often in relation to fishing ,group influence, lack of parents involvement in the school programs
