CHAPTER ONE

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

1.0 Introduction

This chapter Highlights background information, goals of the recess term, historical background of the park, geographical location and size, topology and climate of the park, background information about UWA and population status, socio-economic status of the park.

1.1 Background to internship.

Since 1970s, in developing countries universities started introducing academic departments to promote and enhance the teaching of tourism at university level. This arose from recognition that tourism was seriously taking up a position as the world's single largest industry. This scenario has not changed in any way; instead, the 21st century forecasts indicate that there is great potential for continued growth and development in the tourism sector than other sectors. This is very true; take a case study in the east African region where even Uganda lies. Tourism as a professional academic discipline is not well established in most universities and institutions in developing countries. The situation is worsened by the few fully established tourism programs in African universities. The department of geography, Makerere University due to this need it started a Bachelor's of Tourism program in 1997 as a stepping stone for the establishment of the department of tourism and hospitality management in future.

Tourism has well defined academic community and borrows some concepts and theories from other disciplines to help investigate and explain particular phenomenon and practices of tourism. In the revised tourism programs, we consider a substantial contribution from three disciplinary perspectives necessary for a bachelor of tourism that operates on the knowledge-based platform indicated below

Environmental and geographical sciences, economic sciences, (marketing is the core discipline, but economics and management sciences are relevant), social sciences (Sociology
